Introducing First Service

Three quarters of businesses believe that excellent customer service can give them a competitive advantage.

McCrudden Training has launched a project to develop a bespoke customer service training package exclusively for Eastbourne businesses.

They are offering to research, design and develop the course for the benefit of the town. This will mean local businesses can access a training course that is not just a standard course focusing on what the training provider wants to give you, but instead an accredited course specifically designed to meet your needs!

To help tailor the course to meet local needs, they are asking as many local businesses as possible to complete a short survey.

To complete the survey, click on the link below

www.surveymonkey.com/s/GPY9LSY

Complete the questionnaire by 7th October and in return you will be entered into a prize draw to win 2 free places on the first one-day First Service.
